

Direct postal mail

This form of communication, which is completely original for recruitment, enables your message to be seen by a very specific target group.

We can send your message by post to the candidates that match the profile you are seeking.

Below is an example of one of the postcard campaigns used by our customers. The card is fully personalised with each candidate's name

The possibilities are infinite...

Example

